

Montparnasse — Production

Notes & Authorship Record

Date: 29 May 2026 Project: Recast of Richard Triberg's "The Extraordinary Life & Times of the Immortal yet Forgotten KIKI, Queen of Montparnasse" (220 pages, copyrighted via Richard's literary agent) into a literary memoir provisionally titled Montparnasse.

Authorship and contributions

Sean Gilmore (Arden Edge Capital · Napa Valley Art Institut) — creative direction and producer. All story decisions, character architecture, voice direction, beat structure, dramatic arc, and editorial calls are Sean's. The work that follows is his thinking laid down in shape.

Anthropic Claude (Opus 4.7 · ghostwriting assistant) — prose drafting, structural mapping, file production. Used as a writing tool under Sean's direction, in the same role a human ghostwriter would play. No autonomous creative decisions. Every literary choice that appears in the resulting documents was made by Sean and surfaced through iterative dialogue.

Source material — Richard Triberg's seven Breakout Reports, the March 4 2026 Brokerage Agreement, the Restellini Mission Order, and NVAI Update #4. Richard's 220-page Exposé is the substrate that all recasting will build on once Richard provides the file.

Sean's creative direction — what was set, by whom, on this date

The following calls were made by Sean during the working session of 29 May 2026 and are recorded here so the authorship trail is clear when the work moves forward:

1. The book's central spine is Kiki Prin's life, told in parallel with Richard's four-year dig. Not Richard's memoir with period vignettes — a co-equal biography with Richard as the doorway in.
2. The narrator is Richard Triberg, written in the voice of a man unguarded after four years of work — Sean's specific direction was for an interior register that combines the intimate first-person of Catcher in the Rye, the propulsive on-the-edge energy of Hunter S. Thompson, the global-chase action shape of Indiana Jones and The Da Vinci Code, with Hemingway present as a historical character and Fitzgerald used as period atmospheric wallpaper for the 1920s scenes.

3. The painting at the centre is Modigliani's Sitting Nude with Crossed Hands, c. 1917, 40.5 × 33 cm, currently at Institut Restellini Geneva, Mission Order signed 4 March 2026, financially responsible party Richard Triberg.
 4. The dual-timeline structure — Sean's call: every chapter holds Richard in the present and Kiki in the past, separated and joined by specific verifiable facts about the canvas.
 5. The film director storyline — Sean named the existence of a period film director who exploited Kiki in uncredited short films at fifteen-sixteen, per Richard's own research. Treatment to be confirmed with Richard before publication.
 6. Modigliani as obsessed-from-afar muse — Sean's call. The 1917 relationship reframed: Modi watching her for two years from across the Rotonde, then a summer night in July with rain, wine, and the one formal sitting.
 7. Bill's package — Sean's call. The mentor dies; Richard inherits the work via a small parcel wrapped in brown paper, handed to him by Bill's widow the morning after the funeral, with three words written by hand: For Richard — find her.
 8. Camille Aubry as the buddy — Sean's call. A fictional senior scientist at Institut Restellini's Geneva lab. Composite character. The buddy-cop partner to Richard. Lives modern-timeline only. The book's final phone call is hers.
 9. Kiki as the Madonna of her time — Sean's framing for the reader. The Lady Gaga. The Elizabeth Taylor. Not a footnote — the centre of the room. Used to ground readers who have not heard her name.
 10. Working title: Montparnasse. Single word. No subtitle. Sean's call.
-

Working documents produced on 29 May 2026

File	Status	Use
Montparnasse - Story Overview for Richard.pdf	External. Ready to send to Richard.	Pure story. No mention of writer-influences. Kiki spine forward. The painting, the film director, the summer rain, Bill's package, Camille.
Montparnasse - Creative Brief for Richard.pdf	Internal only. Do not send.	Earlier draft with the voice-influence table and sample prose. Useful when drafting begins.

File	Status	Use
Montparnasse - Production Notes - Authorship Record.md/pdf	This document. Internal record.	Authorship trail. Sean's creative direction logged with the date.

Disclosure language for the published work

When the manuscript reaches the publisher, Sean and Richard should agree on the disclosure that runs on the colophon page. A recommended form:

This book was produced with the editorial collaboration of Sean Gilmore and the writing assistance of an AI tool (Anthropic Claude) operating under Sean Gilmore's direction. All factual content, primary research, and narrative authority belong to Richard Triberg. All literary direction belongs to Sean Gilmore. The prose was drafted iteratively and revised under human editorial control before publication.

Subject to revision when the manuscript is closer to delivery.

Next moves logged

1. Richard sends his 220-page Exposé (Dropbox link).
 2. Richard confirms the film-director name and the documentation supporting it.
 3. Richard blesses the Camille Aubry composite character (or asks for closer-to-real names at the lab).
 4. Sean reviews and approves the twelve-chapter spine.
 5. Claude drafts Chapter II (the Red Pillow / shared studio) and Chapter III (Summer Rain — the painting being made) under Sean's editorial direction, as the proof chapters.
 6. Sean reads them out loud, edits, approves or sends back.
 7. The Scrivener manuscript is built. The remaining ten chapters follow on the proof-chapter template.
-

Logged by Sean Gilmore, with AI writing assistance, 29 May 2026. The painting is in Geneva. The work is in the room. The signature is pending.